

Conjunctive Adverbs Practice

Directions: Using RALLY COACH, take turns with your partner inserting the best conjunctive adverb into the two independent clauses in order to connect them. Choose from the list below. There could be more than one right answer for some of these, and some conjunctive adverbs may be used more than once. Create one sentence using a conjunctive adverb, and use the correct punctuation in doing so, for each of the problems below.

accordingly furthermore moreover similarly also hence namely	besides incidentally next thereafter certainly indeed nonetheless then	now thus finally likewise otherwise undoubtedly further nevertheless	still anyway however therefore consequently instead meanwhile
--	---	---	---

Example: The phone rang several times. There was no answer.
The phone rang several times; furthermore, there was no answer.

1. It's easy to make mistakes. You should practice everyday.
2. I didn't like the salesman. I would have bought something from him.
3. I have full confidence in the market. I am hesitant to invest a lot of money at this time.
4. I don't like the job. I'll take it.
5. Batman searched the building without success. The Joker had escaped through a secret door in the basement.
6. I have left all my studying until the end of the semester. I find myself cramming all night, but remembering almost nothing the next day.
7. I know better than to get myself into such a bind. I can't seem to break the habit of procrastination.